-A program to take a character from the user, and then display its ASCII code.

-Same program but vice versa.

-A program to take a num from user and display odd or even based on this num.

-A program to take two numbers and print the sum, subtraction, multiplication.

-A program to take student degree and calculate grade

-Multiplication table